Course Descriptions

Course #1: Advanced Bible

Dates: September & October

Course Description: Communicating the contents and messages of ancient texts to individuals living in the 21st century is a challenging opportunity for the pastor, teacher, or leader of any church. The course in Advanced Bible will contribute to learners' understanding of methods used in doing responsible interpretation work in the Hebrew scriptures and Christian New Testament. Participants will have the chance to use these approaches to engage biblical material and explore ways of bringing it to life for contemporary communities.

Course Instructors: Rev. Dr. Charles A. Packer, Senior Minister, Pine Hill Congregational Church, West Bloomfield, MI and Rev. Jonathan C. Roach, Ph. D., Associate Conference Minister, Hawaii Conference, United Church of Christ

Course Fee: $250

Course #2: Advanced Theology and Spirituality

Dates: November & December

Course Description: This course will illuminate the practical aspects of living in covenant within congregations, between partners, and individually with God. We will learn the qualitative distinction between a covenant and a contract. We will consider the foundational Scripture of covenantal relationships. Class members will learn to articulate the physical, emotional, spiritual and intellectual connections that build a community into a mutually fulfilling and successful expression of the Body of Christ. This course may be particularly helpful for those who serve in settings that have been heavily influenced by non-Congregational polity.

Course Instructor: Rev. Don Bliss, East Freetown Congregational-Christian Church, East Freetown, MA

Course Fee: $250

Course #3: The Congregational Way

Dates: January

Course Description: This course will explore how we live and move and have our being as seen through the lens of Congregationalism. This includes studying lessons from our forebearers and past NACCC leaders who have paved the way, as well as searching out relevant articles in the Congregationalist and other resources that help us define Congregationalism. You will be asked to share the Congregational practices in your own church, and we will endeavor to be able to explain what a Congregationalist is and why we choose to follow the Congregational Way.

Course Instructor: Rev. Patti Haaheim, Congregational Church of Soquel, Soquel, CA

Course Fee: $125

Course #4: Basics of Preaching

Dates: February

Course Description: This course introduces the principles and disciplines of effective preaching. It offers the tools for the fresh, ongoing interpretation of scripture in the lives of listeners. Students will study cultural and congregational factors in the preaching event, methods for interpreting texts, the process of sermon development, and the practical issues of oral communication. This class will be more fun than this dry description.

Course Instructor: Dr. Brett Younger, Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, NY

Course Fee: $125

Course #5: Making Decisions in the Congregational Way

Dates: March

Course Description: Congregations are constantly making decisions, generally following Robert's Rules; but is that the best way for a church? We will explore decision making in Congregationalism and other traditions, challenges to arriving at decisions, and discuss a pattern of discernment based on our polity and understanding of the priesthood of all believers--a foundational tenet of Congregationalism.

Course Instructor: Rev. Dr. Mary Biedron

Course Fee: $125

Course #6: Transformational Conflict and Management for Churches

Dates: April

Course Description: This course will survey various management styles and offer an introduction to emotional systems and transformational leadership. Students will learn about congregational organizational structures and vulnerabilities. Students will also receive an introduction into church conflict management theory, including change agent skills, stages of conflict, technical vs. adaptive challenges, and how to recognize sources of conflict/tensions in local churches.

Course Instructor: Rev. Doug Gray, Senior Minister, First Congregational Church of Salt Lake City, UT

Course Fee: $125

Course #7: Worship, Sacraments and Public Speaking

Dates: May

Course Description: This one-month course will cover basic elements of worship; resources for worship planning; analysis of worship services; celebration of the Lord's Supper, Baptism, and other sacramentals; collaboration with other worship leaders; fundamentals of public speaking; and construction of sermons/messages. Plan to do the preliminary assigned reading and assignments before the course, and participate in the Zoom class.

Course Instructor: Dr. Helen Gierke

Course Fee: $125

Course #8: Essentials of Pastoral Care and Pastoral Ethics

Dates: June

Course Description: In the first part of the course—Essentials of Pastoral Care—we will discuss grieving which follows loss (loved ones, independence, memories, pets, jobs, home, and more), suffering, how pastoral care is compassionate care-giving, walking in the footsteps of Jesus; the importance of mirrored prayer in pastoral care; and why caregivers must take care of themselves. In the second part of the course—Pastoral Ethics—we will consider personal values, morals, and integrity; boundaries with the congregation; and interactions with staff and clergy colleagues. Meaningful relevant dialogue is essential to the class. Therefore, reading the assigned sections of the two required books is critical.

Course Instructor: Rev. Dr. Barry W. Szymanski

Course Fee: $125
