ChildVoice is a nonprofit organization dedicated to restoring hope and rebuilding the lives of adolescents displaced and traumatized by war and exploitation.

Through community-based programs, including Girl Empowerment Centers and aftercare services, ChildVoice equips vulnerable youth for self-empowerment and reintegration.

They provide safe, therapeutic care, spiritual and emotional counseling, and education to help war-affected youth heal and gain vital life skills.

ChildVoice's work spans multiple conflict-affected regions, offering vocational training and long-term follow-up to enable young people to lead productive, independent lives.
